Some tips on managing your recovery include:

- Spend time with family and friends
- Try to get back into a routine
- Continue a healthy lifestyle (eating, sleeping, exercise)
- Take time out but don't isolate yourself
- Express your feelings in your own way
- Accept help when it is offered
- Limit the amount of media coverage you are exposed to
- Don't expect to have all the answers
- Understand you are not alone in your experience.
- Keep checking in with your friends and neighbours and looking out for each other.

Legal advice

The Disaster Response Legal Service NSW can provide free legal advice to people affected by disasters on a range of issues, including insurance, tenancy, credit and debt.

Bushfire clean-up and waste management

If you are insured:

• Talk to your insurance company as soon as possible about how to make a claim.
• Take photos or video of damage to your property and possessions as evidence for your claim.
• Your insurance company will manage the clean-up of your residence.

The Insurance Council of Australia can be contacted with any questions, complaints or concerns about insurance on 1800 734 621.

If you are uninsured:

Public Works Authority is available to manage the full clean-up and removal of bushfire debris from your residence and immediately adjacent outbuildings. The full cost of the clean-up will be met by the NSW Government.

Clean up health and safety

Houses, sheds and any other buildings that have been burnt in a bushfire can leave potential health and safety hazards in the remaining rubble and ash.

Hazardous household materials that might be present after a bushfire include asbestos, ash from burnt treated timbers (i.e. copper chrome arsenate or CCA), medicines, garden or farm chemicals, other household chemicals and cleaning products, damaged gas bottles, metal and other residues from burnt household appliances as well as ash and dusts.

Other hazards may include unsafe building structures, electrical hazards or missing fencing panels around pools.

When returning to your property after a bushfire, consider the following to protect your health:

• Do not enter your property until you are advised that it is safe to do so by emergency services, utilities companies or your local council.
• Electrical hazards could exist such as live power lines that may be down or active solar panels.

• Buildings and other structures may be unstable to enter or walk over.
• Sewerage and septic systems may be disrupted causing health risks.
• Be aware that hot, smouldering coals and other potentially hazardous materials may be hidden under the rubble.
• Building rubble should not be buried as it may contain hazardous materials.
• Waste generated as a result of the fires needs to go to lawful facilities to ensure soil, water and human health is protected.
• Don’t spread ash around your property, particularly if asbestos materials were used in your home or other structures, or CCA-treated timber was burnt.
• Moisten the ash with water to minimise dust and keep damp but do not use high pressure water sprays.
• Asbestos dust and fibres have the potential to present a health risk.
• Asbestos clean-up and removal must be done by a licensed asbestos removalist.

Disaster relief grants for individuals and families

NSW Government Disaster Relief Grants are available for eligible individuals and families.
